Executive Documents request

I write in reference to your request received on 26 September 2018 for access to the 2018 Executive Documents.

I have determined full release of most of the documents as itemised at Attachment A.

In accordance with Section 31(2) (b) of the Territory Records Act 2002, I have determined partial release of 1545 – Direct Grant of Crown Leases over Rural Land in accordance with the Rural Policy as it contains private information of lessees subject to Protected Private Information:

Section 31G (2)(b) provides the principal officer may determine (by a release restraint determination):

- (b) for any information (protected private information) that would, or could reasonably be expected to, disclose personal information about any person (including a deceased person) and is contrary to the public interest information—
  - (i) that the part containing the information is only to be released on or after the later release day; or
  - (ii) that the part containing the information is not to be released at all.

I have agreed to a delayed release of 1457 Creation of a new Road Transport (Third Party Insurance) Amendment Bill 2007. The submission contained commercial in confidence information provided by third parties external to the ACT Government. Third party consultation is being undertaken to provide an opportunity for their views to be taken into consideration as part of my decision on release of that item. I have made a decision on the release 13 of the 14 items in the schedule (Attachment A), and will provide the final item following the conclusion of the third party consultation.

Given the volume of material held on file, only the final submission, Cabinet brief and decision has been included in the release. However, should you require the full files, including documents during the drafting process, I would consider a further request.

Executive Documents request

I write in reference to your request received on 28 June 2019 for access to Executive Documents from 1989 to the end of 2003. Out of Scope and access to the documents will inform Out of Scope

I apologise for the delay in responding as it was necessary to seek advice from the ACT Government Solicitor to inform the access arrangements outlined below.

You have requested access to 15 years of Cabinet submissions totalling over 8,300 submissions. You recognise the legal restrictions on access to those submissions and the implications of disclosure on the capacity of a polity to maintain any claim for privilege. You propose two legal bases on which your access might be granted, you acknowledge the limitations in both avenues for yourself and the Territory, and you have offered to make any relevant undertakings of confidence that may be required to facilitate access. To accommodate your access, I propose the following arrangements.

By convention, former ministers are entitled to special access to refresh their memories of Cabinet and related documents with which they dealt personally while in office. The utility of that entitlement is somewhat limited as it does not encompass a right to make copies and is unlikely to encompass a licence to make public disclosures or comment.

Under the Territory Records Act 2002, a member of the public may be given early access to accessible executive records, subject to any contrary release restraint determination. The utility of that process is limited by the sheer volume of the submissions in question.

For the Cabinet documents in the period from 1995 to 2001, correlating to the time you held ministerial and the Chief Minister portfolios, I am prepared to give you access in accordance with the convention, subject to certain conditions with which you would undertake to comply.

The conditions of access include:

- a) that you report regularly to the Head of Service on progress towards completion of your work;
- b) that where the Head of Service notifies you that particular information is sensitive, contrary to the public interest in accordance with section 31G of the Territory Records Act or attracts legal professional privilege you will protect that information in accordance with the directions of the Head of Service;

- c) that no use whatsoever be made of information acquired during consultation of records made available under these arrangements, other than as necessary to the production of the final text of the work;
- d) that before the work is made public in any way:
  - those sections of the text based on records to which this access has been granted be submitted to the Head of Service for examination,
  - those sections of the text based on records to which this access has been granted, and deemed by the Head of Service to be unsuitable for public release, be deleted or amended to the satisfaction of the Head of Service,
  - that the work acknowledge both the records used and the means by which access was obtained (i.e. through the Territory Records Act 2002)

I have included an Advance Access Acceptance Form which details proposed conditions of access to the records. If you are agreeable and wish to proceed, could you please complete the Advance Access Acceptance Form and email to CabinetOffice@act.gov.au?

Following receipt of the signed form, the Cabinet Office team will contact you to arrange access. The hard copy documents are stored at ACT Records Services and will be made available to you at the ArchivesACT Reading Room located at 255 Canberra Avenue, Fyshwick.

For the Cabinet documents in the periods for which you were not a minister, you would need to request documents through the Executive Document release process under the Territory Records Act 2002. Using the list of Accessible Executive Documents available on line at <https://www.cmtedd.act.gov.au/functions/publications>, you will need to nominate those items for which you are seeking access and email your request to CabinetOffice@act.gov.au. These documents would be released following their review for public interest matters and legal professional privilege.

For further information, please contact Sara Burns, Executive Branch Manager – Cabinet, Assembly and Government Business on (02) 6205 5347 or Dorena Morris, Senior Director, Cabinet Office on (02) 6207 5989.

Advice of conditions of Advance Access

The Head of Service has decided to grant you advance access to certain records. This access will allow you to consult Executive documents that have not yet been cleared for general public access under the provisions of section 31F of the Territory Records Act 2002. This access is granted subject to the following conditions:

- (a) that you report regularly to the Head of Service on progress towards completion of your work;
- (b) that where the Head of Service notifies you that particular information is sensitive, you will protect that information in accordance with the directions of the Head of Service;
- (c) that no use whatsoever be made of information acquired during consultation of records made available under these arrangements, other than as necessary to the production of the final text of the work;
- (d) that before the work is made public in any way:
  - those sections of the text based on records to which this access has been granted be submitted to the Head of Service for examination,
  - those sections of the text based on records to which this access has been granted, and deemed by the Head of Service to be unsuitable for public release, be deleted or amended to the satisfaction of the Head of Service,
  - that the work acknowledges both the records used and the means by which access was obtained (i.e. through the Territory Records Act 2002 and the Freedom of Information Act 2016);
- (e) that you agree to such further conditions, if any, as the Head of Service may lawfully impose (further conditions are attached).

What is an accessible executive document?

Under the Territory Records Act 2002 (the Act) an executive document is a record that has been proposed by a Minister for consideration by the Executive and includes cabinet documents and associated material. This may include cabinet decisions, briefings, agency comments and submission attachments etc.

Cabinet documents become accessible to the public after 10 years under Part 3A of the Act. Under section 31C of the Act, the list of records that are available must be published electronically every Canberra Day. The list can be accessed here.

Canberra Day release Process

In the lead up to Canberra Day, Government Business & Coordination, CMTEDD, will distribute the list of accessible executive documents to directorates and Ministers to undertake an initial review prior to release. The Head of Service (HoS) agrees to publicly release the list on the CMTEDD website. CMTEDD Communications Team and the Chief Minister's Office are notified prior to the release of the list.

Who is the decision maker?

The Head of Service as Principal Officer under the Act is the decision maker and exercises their own discretion as to whether the information should be published or whether it is contrary to public interest. The Head of Service's view can be informed by the views of the agency, but they are not ultimately bound by those views if they are not personally satisfied of the reasoning in respect to the application of the exemptions applicable under the Act.

Reviewing a document under the TERRITORY RECORDS ACT 2002

When a request for access is received directorates are asked to review an accessible executive document under sections 31E, 31F and 31G of the Territory Records Act 2002. The Freedom of Information Act 2016 (The FOI Act) does not apply.

This review should consider the following exemptions and is undertaken at the time that a request for access to accessible executive documents is received:

1. if it is information that would, or could reasonably be expected to endanger the life or physical safety of a person; or
2. if it is information that would, or could reasonably be expected to be an unreasonable limitation on a person's rights under the Human Rights Act 2004; or
3. if it is information that would, or could reasonably be expected to significantly prejudice an ongoing criminal investigation; or
4. if it is protected private information. This is information that would, or could reasonably be expected to, disclose personal information about any person (including a deceased person) and is contrary to the public interest; or
5. if it is information which falls under legal professional privilege in accordance with section 171 of the Legislation Act 2001.

There may be circumstances where directorates need to seek GSO advice or undertake third party consultation prior to making a recommendation to the Head of Service. If this is the case please advise Government Business & Coordination, CMTEDD at the earliest opportunity. An extension of time may be considered where consultation is required.

Third Party Consultation – when reviewing a document directorates may identify the need to consult, as a courtesy, with a third party or parties who are referenced in the document. This may include other state or territory government jurisdictions, the Commonwealth government, business entities or individuals. It is at a directorate's discretion whether consultation is required and directorates are responsible for initiating it. The specifics should be discussed with Government Business & Coordination, CMTEDD, as early as possible. Any consultation undertaken will need to be referenced in final recommendations and any briefings.

Request for legal advice – during review it may be determined that legal advice from the GSO is required. To avoid any delays, this request should be made as early as possible and Government Business & Coordination, CMTEDD, advised.

Redactions

Directorate FOI teams will be able to provide assistance to apply redactions to an accessible executive document.

How to Lodge reviewed documents and associated attachments with cabinet office

When lodging release recommendation with Cabinet Office, Directorate CLOs will provide Cabinet Office with the following documents via TRIM:

Mandatory Documents:

- if applicable, the executive document with any proposed redactions (marked but not applied*) in PDF. *Redactions are to be lodged in draft format and will be accepted by the Cabinet Office once a decision has been made on release;
- the completed Schedule for Release including recommendations for release (Word);
- a signed Brief to the portfolio minister noting the release; and
- talking points (PDF or Word).

Additional Documents where applicable:

- details of any third party consultation and its impact on the release recommendations and/or

- copies of all GSO advice.

What to do if a request is received for a document that a directorate has previously reviewed for release

On request of a previously reviewed document, Government Business & Coordination, CMTEDD will advise the responsible directorate and request that the portfolio minister is made aware of the further request. Directorates will be asked to confirm the portfolio minister has been appropriately briefed and provided speaking points.

ACCESSIBLE EXECUTIVE DOCUMENT RELEASE

FACT SHEET 01/2020

What is an accessible executive document?

Under the Territory Records Act 2002 (the Act) an executive document is a record that has been proposed by a Minister for consideration by the Executive and includes cabinet documents and associated material. This may include cabinet decisions, briefings, agency comments and submission attachments etc.

Cabinet documents become accessible to the public after 10 years under Part 3A of the Act. Under section 31C of the Act, the list of records that are available must be published electronically every Canberra Day. The list can be accessed here.

How do I request access to an accessible executive document?

Requests for access to accessible executive documents should be directed in writing to the Cabinet Office at CabinetOffice@act.gov.au. The request should identify which accessible executive documents access is being sought to by including the Cabinet number and title of submission.

Review of accessible executive documents

In accordance with the Act, a review is required to be undertaken to determine if the exemptions applicable under the ACT apply to the accessible executive document.

This review considers the following exemptions and is undertaken at the time that a request for access to accessible executive documents is received:

1. if it is information that would, or could reasonably be expected to endanger the life or physical safety of a person; or
2. if it is information that would, or could reasonably be expected to be an unreasonable limitation on a person's rights under the Human Rights Act 2004; or
3. if it is information that would, or could reasonably be expected to significantly prejudice an ongoing criminal investigation; or
4. if it is protected private information. This is information that would, or could reasonably be expected to, disclose personal information about any person (including a deceased person) and is contrary to the public interest; or
5. if it is information which falls under legal professional privilege in accordance with section 171 of the Legislation Act 2001.

Where the Principal Officer determines that any part of the executive document could contain information identified in the above criteria a release restraint determination would be prepared.

Who is the decision maker?

The Head of Service, as Principal Officer under the Act, is the decision maker and must exercise their own discretion as to whether the information should be published or whether the above exemptions may apply. The Head of Service's view can be informed by the views of the agency, but they are not ultimately bound by those views if they are not personally satisfied of the reasoning in respect to the application of the exemptions applicable under the Act.

Timing of response to a request for access

The Act does not stipulate a timeframe for a response to be provided to an access request and the timing of each access request will require its own considerations. Generally, access requests could be expected to be finalised within 8–12 weeks of receipt of a request with the possibility that a release decision may take longer where additional information is required for the Principal Officer to make a decision.

Right of review

The decision to withhold information is reviewable by the ACT Civil and Administrative Tribunal (ACAT) under section 31M of the Act.
